

Welcome to Lewis University

The Cybersecurity Center @ Lewis University contributes to the knowledge, skills, and abilities of current and emerging cybersecurity professionals to guide their logic, critical thinking and ethics through our undergraduate and graduate programs, our experiential learning courses, and community outreach activities. Our programs are undergoing validation by the National Security Agency as we move forward in earning our National Security Agency Center of Academic Excellence in Cyber Defense designation. This designation will allow Lewis University and the Center to advance cybersecurity capabilities regionally and nationally, it will increase the number of trained cybersecurity practitioners, generate educational, outreach and research activities crucial in the protection of our nation's infrastructure. The Center is housed in Lewis University's College of Aviation, Science and Technology.

Lewis University, guided by its Catholic and Lasallian heritage, provides to a diverse student population programs for a liberal and professional education grounded in the interaction of knowledge and fidelity in the search for truth.

Lewis promotes the development of the complete person through the pursuit of wisdom and justice. Fundamental to its Mission is a spirit of association which fosters community in all teaching, learning and service.

The term "Lasallian" is a reference to Saint John Baptist de La Salle, a seventeenth century French priest and founder of the De La Salle Christian Brothers, a Catholic religious institute of men dedicated exclusively to education. Today, the Christian Brothers operate the largest education network in the world and the second largest higher education network, with 65 colleges and universities represented by the International Association of Lasallian Universities (IALU).

Consistent with our Catholic and Lasallian Mission, Lewis University strives to be a place of welcome to those of all faith traditions and worldviews. As a university comprised of lifelong learners, we aspire to foster a community committed to exploring and understanding the religious, spiritual, and secular beliefs, values, and practices of ourselves and others through sharing, study, reflection, and encounter.
